

Black Power
Devona R. Walker

The fire in our eyes,
the power in our minds, the strength within us lies.

Through our ancestors, we all should have the power, the power to overcome, the power to believe the power to achieve,

Through our ancestors we are the power and the knowledge of today, so let us stand proud and say, “I am the power, the fire, the strength, within my mouth I hold the gift, bringing forth what I know, I am an erupting volcano, bursting with knowledge to show that I am the power, the fire, the strength and forever the black power within me will lift.”
